

poems / Open love

In vows entwined, a marriage sealed,
Yet in your heart, another love revealed.
Ethical and open, your love takes flight,
A bond with her, both day and night.

A friend so dear, a soul's embrace,
Her presence ignites your heart's true grace.
Intense desire, a fire within,
Two loves coexist, a dance to begin.

In honesty and trust, love finds its way,
With each passing moment, passions sway.
For in this journey, you've learned to share,
A love that's boundless, beyond compare.

United in marriage, yet free to explore,
Love's vast horizon, forevermore.
With every verse, your heart sings anew,
A tapestry of love, beautifully true.
