

poems / Pain is a Reminder of our Love

I've been counting down the hours till I see your blonde hair
Finally we'll be together to kiss and show we care
My desire burns for your soft lips and your passionate touch
It's been so long since I felt your body next to mine
The wait has been excruciating but it's kept our fire alive

Pain is a reminder of our love
Distance makes the heart grow fonder
When we're apart I feel your love even stronger
I cherish every moment we spend lost in each other
Our bond will never fade away
Pain is a reminder of our love

I imagine holding you in the sun in our Surry Hills apartment
Admiring your beauty as you walk in so nonchalant
We'll laugh and sing our random songs as the day fades away
Then passion takes over as we fantasise and touch
The pain of being apart will make it mean so much more
When we finally get to be together like before

Pain is a reminder of our love
Distance makes the heart grow fonder
When we're apart I feel your love even stronger
I cherish every moment we spend lost in each other
Our bond will never fade away
Pain is a reminder of our love

Sitting on the rooftop feeling the summer breeze
Looking in your eyes I'm brought down to my knees
Your laughter fills me up and your smile makes me melt
The pain was worth it for the love I know we felt

Pain is a reminder of our love
Distance makes the heart grow fonder
When we're apart I feel your love even stronger
I cherish every moment we spend lost in each other
Our bond will never fade away
Pain is a reminder of our love
